THE LIVING ROOM

Can these dry bones live?

What a daring question asked by God to Ezekiel. The all knowing, all powerful God asks a delusional prophet if these dead, dry bones can live again.

That is the question that God is asking CODAE every time we come together in the sanctuary. God loves the praise, the worship, the giving, but at the end of the day this question resonates to every prophet, priest, and king. That's why I have decided to name our sanctuary "The Living Room." The miracles that we have witnessed right in our own sanctuary supports the decision and gives testimony that yes, these bones can live again!

From the desk of Pastor Antonio Gandy

I can't express the excitement that I am feeling as we are quickly approaching three years of ministry. God has blessed Center of Deliverance & Empowerment in such a way that the later days shall be greater than the former. This new year that is quickly approaching is a year that we will focus on enlarging our tents, lengthening our cords, and strengthening our stakes. The way that we do that is by taking pride in our ministry and spreading the word about CODAE. Family and Friends day was an awesome time but we must continue in spreading the news about what God is doing at CODAE. We can do that by taking advantage of our social networks that we belong to. Flyers, commercials, newspaper articles, are all great; however statistics prove that word of mouth is still more affective. Try posting something about the ministry once a week, maybe blogging how the word affected you. Perhaps tweet something positive about the worship that you experienced. All these things, believe it or not, bring an awareness and a desire to be apart of something positive.

I of course am the first partaker in doing this. You can follow me on www.antoniogandy.blogspot.com. I am also on Facebook and twitter. My twitter name is eldertone. If you haven't yet, look me up and let this New Year be a Year of increase!
